To whom it may concern,

Yudum Naz Arslan has joined our Cosmopolitan Magazine team as an intern between March 11, 2019 and March 22, 2019. She became a part of our daily operations and gained experience in the media industry with practices of page layout, art and photo research, and color separation.

She had the opportunity to follow up overall preparation operations of the magazine, both digital and printed versions. She has been briefed on each and every procedure and helped the team on their daily tasks.

She was so interactive and did not hesitate to share her vision and inspiring opinions representing "Generation Z" with us.

Her ability to be an active member of the team, establishing great relationships with her colleagues and her communication skills were highly appreciated.

We wish her the best of success for her impressive goals in the future.
